

Queensland Health facility information videos will go live on Monday 03 May 2010 and be available for student viewing at the following link:
www.health.qld.gov.au/medical/interninfo.asp

If you have any queries in relation to this event, please email: MWAC@health.qld.gov.au.

Contact your Medical Student Placements Coordinator or student representatives for more information

Queensland Government

Queensland Health

Internship Information for final-year medical students

In 2010 Queensland Health will be coordinating the delivery of intern information to final-year medical graduates via an electronic platform and visits to universities. Internship Information is coordinated by the Medical Workforce Advice and Coordination (MWAC) unit.

The website information will be available at the following address <http://www.health.qld.gov.au/medical/interninfo.asp> and will showcase the experiences on offer across Queensland Health's Health Service Districts for Intern year and beyond through a selection of on-line videos about individual Queensland Health facilities. It will also be a source of advice regarding the broad range of initiatives being undertaken across Queensland to enhance prevocational medical education and training.

During the university visits, an information pack will be provided to all final-year medical students containing flyers for each Queensland Health facility offering Intern training. This information will help inform your choices prior to the commencement of this year's Intern e-Recruit Campaign, which opens on 8 June 2010. You will also be able to direct questions regarding the website information or to panellists during your uni visit, via the MWAC email account.

More information regarding how to access the on-line information and dates and locations for university visits will be provided in the near future.